A REGULAR CARNIVAL DAY. Probably the most unique feature about the Probably the most unique feature about the crowds was the way hats were marked with red and white chalk. On the backs of hundreds were the figures 544, the number of votes General Harrison received at Chicago. Others had, "New York, 11,000," chalked on their backs, while every hat bore some letter or figure. In the new Denison Hotel and along the street were a half-dozen professional chalkers doing a land-office business. Dudish young men would submit to having their garments artistically marked with all sorts of humorous characters. A device that afforded the throngs most amusement was a miniature canoe four feet

Senator Stanford's Message.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 8th.—General Harrison began to receive congratulatory telegrams from New York and the East as early as 9 o'clock on election night, when the first meager returns indicated his probable election. From that moment to the present writing telegrams and letters of congratulation have poured in upon him from every city in the Union. The table in his library is piled with hundreds of these telegrams, there being fully 5,000. So long as there was a shadow of doubt resting upon the result of the election, General Harrison was not disposed to permit the publication of any congratulatory communications. The labor of assorting the telegrams, which continue to arrive, was begun this evening.

Anong the congratulations received were those from Chairmen Quay and Huston, James G. Blaine, John Sherman, ex-Governor Alger, Chaucecy M. Depew, Congressman McKinley, M. M. Estee, John M. Thurston, Senator Frey, T. C. Platt, Senators Spooner, Hawley, Dawes, Stockbridge, Paddock, Manderson, Aldrich and Sabin, Congressmen Burroughs, Branch and Bruce, A. P. Williams, of California, and many others. Mrs. Belva Lockwood offered the congratulations of the Equal Rights party.

Senator Stanford, of California, telegraphed: "I congratulate you because you are the representative of the better American sentiment of the country, and in you it will find expression and support. I am. personally, greatly gratified because the entire Pacific coast gives you, in all three of the States, larger majorities than ever before g ven to a successful Republican candidate." election that the Republicans could carry Maryland if a thorough effort was made, but nothing was done, and the party headquarters in the State were not opened until a short time before the election. As it was, the Congressional delegation is evenly divided by the two part es. The true remedy against a solid South is gradually to build up the party in the border States. McPherson says that the Republicans will have a majority of four in the Senate. This is brought about, he says, by the Democratic loss of the Legislature in Delaware, and the return of a Republican successor to Senator Kenna in West Virginia. It is not certain, however, that the Delaware Legislature has gone Republican, and all the returns are not in yet from West Virginia.

WILD HOOSIERS. Strange Scenes of Joilification-Indianapolis Goes Wild. INDIANAPOLIS, November 8th .- Probably no INDIANAPOLIS, November 8th.—Probably no city in the Union ever witnessed such extraordinary and outlandish scenes of enthusiasm and chaotic but good-natured disorder as prevailed here this afternoon and to-night. Certainly the citizens of Indianapolis never before saw such a sight. The demonstration that occurred immediately following the news of General Harrison's nomination sinks into insignificance compared with the scenes of to-day and to-night. Throughout the day, whenever the ratu ceased falling, the distant boom of cannon re echoed the enthusiasm of 10,000 Republicans. About four o'clock the rain, which had been pouring steadily for five hours, ceased, and in an incredibly short time, the streets were again swarming with

A device that allorded the throngs most amusement was a miniature canoe four feet long carried through the streets by four men. Within the canoe sat a small, chubby figure, bearing a striking resemblance to a late candidate, holding the oars. Placards attached sugested a trip up the mythical Salt river, while hundreds of men and boys followed singing: "Good bye, oh, Grover! Good bye!"

Boston, November 8th.—A feature of the election in this State was the savage enmity shown the Administration in all the fishing towns in the coast district. General William Cogswell, due to the fishermen's support, snowed under Samuel Rhoades, Jr., his Democratic opponent. In the seaport towns all Tuesday crowds of fishermen *nd sailors paraded the streets bearing banners ridiculing Bayard and hissing Cleveland. Cleveland.

The Boston Globe (Dem.) speaks of this, under the head of "Significant Vote," and says:
"Gloucester gave one in giving Cleveland 955 and Harrison 2 301, while in 1884 her vote stood:
Cleveland 961, Blaine 1,291, and Butler 309. This is what Secretary Reverd exts for his EVERYBODY GOOD-NATURED.

The celebration was of the most humorous and impromptu character, and certainly was not designed as a mark of disrespect to President Cleveland, as many Southern readers of this account might otherwise suppose.

An Associated Press correspondent stood for several hours on the street witnes-ing the demonstration, but did not hear a single expression of personal disrespect toward President Cleveland; and, while the devices described were suggestive of a certain breach of propriety toward the Chief Magistrate of the nation, that feeling will be more pronounced with the reader than with the spectators. The good humor of the crowds, and the enthusiasm permeating the very atmosphere, offer an explanation that the distant reader cannot fully appreciate. EVERYBODY GOOD-NATURED. cheverand 961, Biaine 1,291, and Butler 309. This is what Secretary Bayard gets for his gratuitous and quixotic attempt to become an international statesman. The vessel-owners, without regard to party, were energetic in their opposition to Cleveland. Many of the members of the Democratic organizations were in more or less open hostility to the Administration." PLEASED WITH THE RESULT. Mexicans Rejoicing at the success of Pro-

As evening came the factories and stores added their hundreds to the howling, screeching rabble. Between 7 and 8 o'clock the excitement had nearly reached the frenzy point with a good many who were over-indulgent, and not few quarrels occurred. Buildings were illuminated with Chinese lanterns, and the roise of expression of the statement of the ings were illuminated with Chinese lanterns, and the noise of cannon and anvils and fire-crackers and tin horns, which continued until after 9 o'clock, could be plainly heard as far out as General Harrison's residence.

The General and his family, except for those distant echoes, were unconscious of the stirring scenes in the city. Except for a short walk yesterday and this morning, General Harrison has not left his residence since election day.

Just before dark a train-load of enthusiastic men came in from Danville. They were mostly members of the first Lincoln League organized in the State, with flags flying, men pushing, singing and shouting, and with drums, tin horns, brass bands and cannon all uniting to make indescribable sounds as General Harrison's residence was reached. As the crowds came into the yard General Harrison ventured to look out of the south bay window. He was seen immediately, and the crowd broke for the window. By this time the spokesman of the delegation, flon. John J. Hull, had been ushered into the library. He said all they wanted was to tender their congratulations, and that no speech would be asked.

General Harrison shook hands with a few, who insisted, and then bade them a pleasant "good-night," and retired.

Congratulations to General Harrison Senator Stanford's Message.

Senator Dolph, of Oregon, telegraphed con gratulations, as did also Justices Harlan and Matthews of the Supreme Court. THE SOLID SOUTH BROKEN.

Gone Pepublican.

Wheeling (W. Va.), November 8th. — Dispatches received to night from the Capitol of the State announce that the Democratic State Treasurer, Thompson, concedes the State to the Republicans by from four to seven hundred majority. This is a confirmation of the steady Republican gains that have been coming to-day.

The Republican State Committee here claim the State by a much larger majority. They claim to have at least three, and probably a solid delegation of four Congressmen. They claim majorities for the electoral ticket and a majority in the Legislature. majorities for the electoral ticket and a majority in the Legislature.

The scene of Republican enthusiasm in this city to-night is unprecedented. Thousands of people have crowded the streets in front of the Intelligencer building to read the bulletins, and on every hand is heard the cry that the "Solid South" is shattered at last by the vote of this State.

THE NEXT HOUSE. A Prominent Republican's Estimate of Its Complexion.

Washington, November 8th.—Edward Mc-Pherson, Secretary of the Republican Congressional Committee, has been revising the election returns for the special purpose of ascertaining how the next House will stand. He figures out a majority of eleven for the Republicans, and in addition thinks there will be a gain of one each in the delegations from Michigan, West Virginia and Virginia, as figured in the table below.

From West Virginia he thinks the delegation in the House will stand not less than two to two; in Virginia, three Republicans to seven Democrats, and in Michigan ten Republicans to no Democrat. He is not willing to claim a solid Republican delegation in California, and thinksthere may be changes in Fiorida, Indiana, Kentucky and North Carolina favorable to the Republicans. His estimate of the House, based upon his present knowledge and including certain doubtful reports, is shown by the following table:

WHEELING, November 8th.—Latest returns show increasing Republican gains. It looks as if the Republicans had carried the State. Secretary McPherson says sufficient States will be admitted to make it impossible for the solid be admitted to make it impossible for the solid South, in combination with New York, to control the National election, but the solid South will gradually yield to the assault that is being made by the Republican party. news. The Democratic National Committee SALT LAKE.—The election of Dubois (Rep.) as Delegate to Congress from Idaho is now assured. The Republican victory occasions the utmost consternation among the army of Democratic office-holders here.

New York, November 8th.—The campaign is at last ended in this city, and things are fast settling down to their normal c ndition. The various campaign committees have closed up their headquarters, with the exception of the Republican and Democratic National Executive Committees, and they will probably be abandoned to-morrow. The National Democratic Committee now concedes, for the first time, the election of Harrison. They make this statement: WASHINGTON TERRITORY. Walla Walla, November 8th.—Allen (Rep.) is elected by not less than 5 000, a Republican gain of 7,000 since 1886. The Legislature in both branches is Republican.

They Failed to Respond. New York, November 8th.—Hon. S. S. Cox to-night said: "I think the House is against us, notwithstanding our gains in Virginia and other States. The Northwest and West, including Minnesota, Michigan, and Wisconsin, have failed to respond to us."

election of Harrison. They make this statement:

"When the National Democratic Committee claimed the State of New York on Tuesday by 10,000 to 15,000 majority, the figures of the returns then received fully justified that estimate. Reports from New York city and from large communities in the interior of the State showed Democratic gains, and the first reports from Brooklyn were to the effect that the majority there was 19,000. The telegraph wires were very much crowded, and the transmission of the committee's bulletin to the West was considerably delayed. There is evidently a misapprehension in some parts of the West as to the time the dispatch was sent."

The particular dispatch referred to was the one received in the West claiming New York by 10,000 to 15,000 majority. When the dispatch arrived out there it was wholly at variance with the returns from this State. The Democratic Committee say it was not intended to deceive anyone, and that at the hour it was written the bulletins of some New York papers were giving the State to Cleveland by 18,000 plarality.

On the strength of that dispatch thousands of Democrats on the Pacific Coast and in the Western States put up their money on Cleveland's election and o' course lost. It was a costly piece of bullheadism on the part of the committee.

CINCINNATI, November 5th.—The story is in circulation in Covington, Ky.. that Speaker Carlisle is to be deprived of his certificate of election on the ground of the alleged illegality of ballots cast for him in Campbel, and Kenton counties. It is assumed that if these are thrown out his majority in the district will be overcome. Kentucky law, it is said, requires that the ballot shall be on piain white paper, with no distinguishing features, but the Car isle ballots were printed on large sheets of perforated paper, so that when the tickets were torn apart the perforations appeared on the edges and made them easily distinguishable from other tickets. Color is given to the story by the fact that the Canvassing Board in Campbell county is Republican. will be remembered that during the autumn of 1881 there was an unusual number of people who were attacked by these diseases in Southwestern and Western-central Missouri and also Eastern Kansas, when there had been no rains of any conse or months, and that, too, in districts far emoved from decomposing water or any other substance. INDIANAPOLIS, November 8th.—It is the general opinian that the perforating of the sneets on which the Carlisle tickets were printed, instead of cutting the tickets apart, does not show intention to mark them so that they might be distinguished as the voter handed them to the Judge. At all events, if all the tickets thus technically marked were thrown out, it would not be likely to elect Carlisle's opponent.

the dry, hot weather of summer the heat that is radiated and the electricity that is generated by the sun have an enervating influence on the system—that from the nerve centers this influence reaches the nuscular system, principally through the oneumogastric nerve, and the stomach being the most delicate and intricate of alnost any of the involuntary muscles, is the principal sufferer from such enervating nfluence. Indigestion follows as a sympom, and an increase of bile brings what s called biliousness and malaria.

I hope my medical friends, and I claim New York, November 2th.—The campaign that has just closed cost an immense amount of money—more than twice as much as any previous one. The exact amount is difficult to estimate, but each of the National Committees raised and spent $1,000,000, and each of the New York State Committees $1,000,000 more. The printing bills of either committee amounted to hundreds of thousands of dollars. The amount of money that has changed hands on the election is very large, probably $1,000,000 in this city alone. nany as such, will pardon the presumption on my part of the discussion of a sub ject that comes more within their province than that of mine. But this conclusion has been forced from observations that reach over a period of many years as a surveyor in the West. I have bserved that there were more cases of sickness of this kind during, or imme diately after, the season in which there were the greatest number of electric showers or electric disturbances as shown by the surveyor's instruments. I conclude, New York, November 8th.—Senator Gorman takes defeat philosophically, but he was never an admirer of Cleveland. He is a protectionist and has been stubbornly opposed to all the features of the President's policy from the beginning. He was the first of the Democratic leaders to go to bed last night, but he continued to claim a victory until his head touched the pillow. then, that heat and electricity are the prime causes of "malaria," and that they weaken the stomach, and, in a large majority of cases, produce the diseases usually attributed to this cause.

STOCKTON, November 8th.—To-day's game between the Stocktons and hiesgos resulted in a draw, the score standing two to two. The game was called on account of dust and darkness. Harper and Stockwell and Tener and Daly were the opposing batteries. The Stocktons were first at the bat, but failed to score. The first two batters of the Chicagos were quickly retired, when Sullivan, with two strikes on him, rapped out a long line hit to center, which Baker misjudged, with the result that it counted as a home run Anson got in a hit and scored on Pfeffer's triple. This ended the Chicagos run-etting, and after that they only hit Harper for three singles.

SUCCESS OF THE PRECINCT REGISTRY

When the RECORD-UNION advocated the adoption of precinct registers for the voting districts of this city the proposition met with bitter opposition. It was said that hundreds of men would be practically disfranchised; that in case of removals gross injustice would be done, and that mistakes in the record of residences would work grievous hardships. The opposition to the precinct registry system grew into bitterness, and it was openly charged that in this State must be based upon a ground the scheme was projected to defeat the work that places San Francisco, with its honest and full expression of the will of bondage to bossism, upon the Democratic the people; and this, too, in the face of side, in opposition to the Republican purpose was to defeat fraud, to render cor of the State dividing political strength ruption difficult, and to make honest elec- about evenly, with a slight tendency to a

In former years the percentage of registered voters not voting has at general elections ranged from 15 to voting was but a little over eleven, or from 4 to 6 per cent. less than ever before. The city, therefore, under the new system, cast the largest vote in her history, and the largest per cent. of registered voters voted,

It is probable that some few men were shut out, but it is perfectly safe to say that in nine cases out of ten the fault was theirs alone, and is not chargeable to the precinct system. As against the few who were deprived of their vote by errors or their own blameworthiness, it is a fact that a great deal of fraudulent voting was prevented, and that repeaters and vote thieves found their occupation gone. Before another general election the precinct registers will of course be made exact, the voting precincts will be brought down to the maxi-

Unquestionably the very large vote cast on Tuesday is in great part to be credited to this fact. Now that the system has been tried and pronounced a complete success, and that, too, in the face of an opposition to it that was almost unpardonably bitter and unreasonable, and that proceeded from quarters where it should have had friends; now that it has proved its great usefulness in checking fraud and conserving the sacredness of the ballot, let the Registers be overhauled with great care and after full notice, all errors corrected, the election districts reduced as stated, and at the next election where the precinct registers are used it will be found that whoever raises a

George A. Blanchard also favored the amendment and made a spirited address.

Mr. Anderson withdrew his motion and the amendment was then carried amidst

A mechanic from the railroad shops said he was glad the amendment was car ried. He was working alongside of a num ber of Democrats who had been laughing at him for weeks. The tables were now turned. The laugh was on the other side, and he wanted to get even by whooping her up as soon as possible. C. H. Hubbard was unanimously elected

Grand Marshal. It was suggested that some three or four hundred dollars would be necessary to defray "funeral expenses." Grove L. Johnson suggested that they take up a collection on the spot. This was done, and a Blaine hat was passed around Clinton White said there was some $50 in the hands of J. O. Coleman that had been collected to defray the expenses of the

Advice to Mothers .- Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when shildren are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little elerub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best-known remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from eething or other causes. Twenty-five cer

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Metropolitan Theater.

Donelly & Girard and their support had a good house last night. It is certainly one of the merriest troupes we have ever had here, while Donnelly and Girard are inimitable mimics, and wells of mirth in themselves. Miss Satherlee's personation of the Irish peasant girl suddenly gifted with wealth, is one of the cleverest bits of acting in the field of low comedy seen in many a year. In fact it is so perfectly nat-ural, so easy and unstudied an effort, and so complete in detail as to entitle it to high credit as artistic dramatic work. Miss Corlette is certainly an ac-complished vocalist and her voice has a quality of feeling about it that is seldom met with in people filling so unimportant a role as she takes in "Natural Gas." All the support is good. The farce is very extravagant, but clean, free from any offense, ling with fun, rich in specialty action and made by Girard, especially, the vehicle for some of the cleverest burlesquing | El Dorado county. "Natural Gas" will be repeated to-night for the last time.

A suggestion to the management of the Metropolitan is but the echo of unanimous desire, when it is advised to place rubber straps upon the auditorium doors so they will be self-closing, but still may, by removal of the springs, be instantly thrown wide open when necessary, and kept so. As it now is, those who retire between acts leave the doors open, and the cold air rushing in from the lobby strikes the auditors' backs for eight or ten minutes with a strong draught, and the result is many colds and a great deal of justifiable grumbling. So, too, while the audience assembles, the doors are kept wide spread, and those who come early and wait are forced to sit in a draught. In few houses in the country would this be tolerated by the public, and even here it can be shown to the management that it loses it many a dollar. There are ladies and gentlemen in considerable number who refuse to enter either of our theaters simply because of the door draughts-evils that can be remedied by the expenditure of a single dollar, and the output of a little solicitude for the comfort of the people.

Lost His Moustache. Joe Fisher is a bootmaker on Third street opposite the RECORD-UNION office. He is a thorough Democrat and a great admirer of Grover Cleveland. He is a goodlooking individual and sports a heavy and neatly trimmed moustache, in which he has a kind of Napoleonic pride. The day before the election he met a friend by the name of Woods, a Republican, a shouter for protection, one who was willing to bet his shirt on Republican success. After a heated discussion on the tariff issues, Fisher, in order to show his faith in his belief, says: "I'll bet my moustache against yours that Cleveland is elected." "I'll go you if I lose," was Woods' modest reply, as he proudly stroked the hirsute appendage on his upper lip. The papers were drawn, witnessed, sealed and delivered to a third party. Yesterday Woods called at the shoe-shop and demanded the fulfillment of the requirements of his bet. Fisher says he will not shave until after the official announcements are all made. He stroked his glossy moustache, which he had been so proud of for the last twenty years, and offered to compromise by paying $20. Woods, however, was inexorable, and like the Shylock of old, insisted on "his pound of flesh," and the moustache "must go."

"My dear madam, I never saw you looking so well, and you were so poorly, too." "Yes, doctor, Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the grandest thing in the world for run-down. nervous and debilitated women. That's the secret of my appearance."

Up to a month ago Mrs. Belden, an elderly lady, living at 510 Mason street, San Francisco. was failing in health and flesh so rapidly as to seriously alarm her relavives. She now writes: "I have taken but one bottle of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, but it is astonishing. I am regaining my lost flesh and have not felt as well in years."

An enormous aerolite, which was discovered about 100 years ago in the Bazilian Province of Bahia, has been just "Harmless" Adulteration.

We object to "harmless" in this conne tion. Its use this way tends to belittle the evils of adulteration. The prime ob Mrs. Alice Young and her two little sons left | ject of adulterating food never was to kill the consumer, but to cheat him, and it is not therefore a proper treatment of the subject to talk as if the main question was disposed of by stating that most present adulterations are harmless. The evil of adulteration at the present time is what has always been the principal evil of it -fraud on the buyer and moral delinquency in the seller or compounder. The man who really opposes adulterations is opposed to the harmless kind about as arnestly as if that adjective had never been used to suggest that there wasn't much need of worrying now since the adulterator was no longer in collusion with the undertaker. The true friend of pure food sometimes makes it manifest that he is unfriendly toward the maker of impure food. He is not chiefly distinguished for finding fault with plans to stop that kind

There is no harmless adulteration. I all aims to cheat the consumer, and it is all indicative of moral unhealth in the doer of it. The adulterator should have no such support as comes from calling his work harmless, though meant so only in one sense of the word. He is "a thief and feather pillows, bolsteres, portiers, walnut a robber," and he ought never to be al-extension tables, imported Vienna dining lowed to forget it, and to suppose that any good citizens think of him in any other

"In the progressive tendencies of the American people," said a physician to a reporter, "the subject of proper rest plays a very small part. The idea seems to prevail among them that this matter is subservient to all else-that it may be taken at any time and in almost any manner, provided there is nothing more important to do. Only this morning a lady consulted me in regard to her health, complaining of a tired feeling, being searcely able to at-tend to her duties, and all that. I diagnosed the case, but could discover no symptom of disease. She was simply suffering from want of proper rest. I teld her what troubled her, and no doubt she vent away convinced that I did not undertand her case. Mail and Express. AN OLD LADY'S DILEMMA. Consolation in the Thought that People

Would Think Her Crazy. A worthy old lady from the West, whos lifelong habit had been to shoulder all the world's burdens and who never considered herself in any matter, came on a visit to town lately. She enjoyed shopping in all the large stores, and liked to go alone, so that she could surprise some of her numero a telephone inquiry to night it was learned hat he was taken sick about a week ago, while n New York. He returned to his home on Monday, and his illness assumed a dangerous character. To night, however, his condition is highly improved. His trouble was caused by overwork, resulting in nervous prostration. that she could surprise some of her numerous young relatives with an appropriate gift on her return. But one day the good soul returned empty-handed and heavy-hearted. Her friends had never seen her look so uncomfortable. All gathered about her to find out what was the matter, when she began an explanation of her

> "I wish I could mind my own business. Oh, if I had not meddled! Oh, dear! How shall I ever be able to hold my head up again? But then this is a big city, and everybody didn't see it." "See it? Wny, what have you done?"

"Well, I suppose I may as well tell you Perhaps it will make me feel better. I had been looking at some cloaks at White's, and had about decided to buy one for Annie—oh, it was a beauty—when I thought, now, perhaps she would like that handsome black silk dress better, and so I went Ro back to look once more at the silk counter. But the cloak was fixed in my mind and mistaken her for a dummy, and I walked laway without buying anything or caring for anything but to get out of sight." It was a case difficult to offer any crumb of comfort. But at last the old lady herself brightened up after a long silence, and

But the cloak was fixed in my mind and I couldn't give it up, so I strayed once more among the cloaks. One of the dummies had been tilted up against the counter in such a way that the least touch would send the whole machine on the floor, and all those beautiful clothes on it would get dusty, so, as it was an easy matter to straighten it up, I just took it by the waist and lifted it into position again, when, oh, dear! I can't tell the rest—it is too dreadful."

"Oh, go on! What happened? Did you tear some of its expensive finery?"

"No, nothing of that kind, but—it was a live woman, and the look she gave me I shall never forget if I live to be as old as Methuselah!"

After the burst of uncontrollable laughter that followed this confession was over one of the nieces said:

In speaking of the asteroids he mentioned the discovery and rediscovery during the past year of several of these interacting little planets, the whole volume of seventy of the largest of which equals only 1-7800 part of the volume of the earth. Altogether they number hundreds of all sizes. The Professor further stated that no en of the most recently discovered of these planets kad just been named in honor of the daughter of a well-known scientist.—

Machine Poetry.

We note that some of our trade papers are dropping into "poetry" occasionally on themes not unconnected with industrial poetry, the world would gain something.

Werses and rhymes are not poetry; usually they are far from it, and one called "Sawdust" is a case in point. Here is a sample verse:

The mill-saw with its teeth of steel Bites through the double the dam.

Well, what of it? This is a prosaic fact, thot at all poetic, and the versifier has not cornrence. Any one can write this sort of thing with a running pen. Applying it to our own trade, we say:
